Lesson 4 The Olympics (English Communication I VISTA)

1

Pierre de Coubertin is the founder of the modern Olympics. He said, “Sports can train young people’s bodies and minds.” He also said, “I believe that the Olympics will contribute to world peace.” In 1896, he started the modern Olympics in Athens, Greece.

2

There were many interesting Olympic events in the past. People competed in a tug-of-war, or tsunahiki. This event brought Great Britain five medals. In the 1900 Paris Olympics, there was a unique swimming event. Men climbed over boats and then swam under other boats in the river!

3

Women didn’t take part in the first modern Olympics in Athens. Now women can join almost all events. In addition, athletes with disabilities take part in another Olympics. We call these games “the Paralympics.” I think both Olympic games unite people through sports.
